Australian Ambassador Mark Sawers condemns ISIS' killing of Ethiopians in Libya

Media Statement

22 April 2015

At this time of deep mourning, I offer my profoundest condolences to the families of the victims of ISIS in Libya, and to the people and Government of Ethiopia.

I am sure all Australians, many of whom have also been touched by terrorism, would share these sentiments.

The brutality and cruelty of ISIS' murder of innocent Ethiopians must be condemned in the strongest terms. No nation can stand by while atrocities of this kind continue to be committed.

We must all continue to build international cooperation to relentlessly pursue their perpetrators no matter where in the world they seek to operate.
